

Clinton de Souza

Clinton de Souza joined the group in 1994 in New Business Development, before moving to the healthcare division in 2010. Clinton has held several senior management positions including Sales Director of the South African logistics business ($125 mil pa revenue) and General Manager: Organizational Development.

His career expands twenty one years in Supply Chain strategy, operations and deployment throughout the African Continent. He spent this time working with the Healthcare, Technology and Consumer Goods sectors where he has developed and deployed Supply Chain solutions on the African Continent for the private and public sectors.

In 2011, Clinton was seconded to the USA to join the SCMS project (PEPFAR implementing partner) where he has held two roles: first as Freight & Logistics Manager for the Global Supply Chain and recently as the Warehousing & Distribution Principle Advisor where he works with the SCMS field offices in supporting host Government's healthcare supply chains.

Clinton also heads the Public Health Consulting division of Imperial Health Sciences where he is responsible for approximately 20–30 supply chain consultants working within various public health systems throughout Africa and the developing world. He holds an MBA from the Henley Management College, University of Reading (UK) 2009.