Edited by: Michael Counte, PhD (countem@slu.edu), Bernardo Ramirez, MD (Bernardo.Ramirez@ucf.edu), Daniel J. West, Jr., PhD (daniel.west@scranton.edu), William Aaronson, PhD (waaronson@temple.edu)

Coming November 2018 from Health Administration Press, The Global Healthcare Manager: Competencies, Concepts, and Skills will provide an on-the-ground perspective about working as a healthcare manager in a variety of countries, cultures, and delivery settings around the world.

Chapters are written by individuals with particular expertise related to specific countries. Readers will learn how to adapt quickly and work effectively in environments that may be new to them. Written for students and current healthcare managers, the book is organized into four parts:

Section I: Health Services Management: Essential Concepts and Practices

Structure and Functions of Healthcare Organizations, Financing and Payment in Healthcare, Financial Management of Healthcare Organizations, Human Resources Management, and Health and Managerial Informatics

Section II: Leadership and Organizational Design and Change

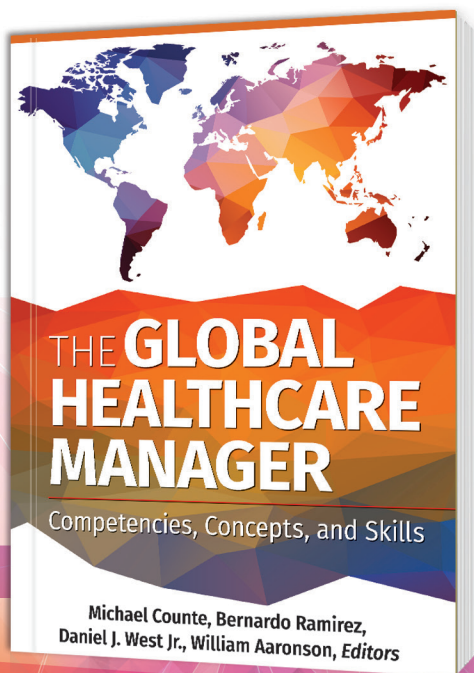

Principles of Effective Leadership of Healthcare Organizations; Strategic Management and Marketing; Process Design, Project Management and Continual Improvement; Managerial Ethics; and Governance

Section III: Management of the Organization–Environment Interface

Health Policy Design and Analysis, Alignment of Healthcare Organizations with Changing Environments, and Managing the Health of Populations

Section IV: Future Directions in Global Health Management and Policy

Future Challenges and Trends
